

Nursing Transfer Articulation Agreement between Corban University and
George Fox University

~~This articulation is to establish the agreement between Corban University (CU) and George Fox~~

University (GFU) for the following coursework included in an Associate of Science in Health Science (ASHS). Students who complete an ASHS at CU and meet the requirements listed below may transfer to GFU and apply to the School of Nursing. At least three and up to five spaces will be reserved for fall transfer admits from CU beginning fall of 2022. Ten spaces will be reserved for spring transfer admits beginning spring of 2023. Additional spaces may be available in spring. Completion of the articulated coursework at Corban will guarantee that students have covered all their nursing prerequisite and general education requirements towards the BSN.

Students pursuing acceptance into the Nursing Program at GFU, must complete all required transfer courses listed below as well as an ASHS from CU. Prior acceptance into the School of Nursing all applicants must apply for admission to GFU. This agreement is based on the evaluation of the rigor and content of the general education and major specific courses for both CU and GFU and is subject
